

Bookbizh Breaks (in two), Aandishiwigwiigwaam Where is your home?

In the center of the room, several large white sheets lay sprawled across the ground, covered in four shades of rusted pastel. Some of the sheets have pieces of twine and rope attached to them. Next to them lays a folded white sheet, untouched by the pastel. In the center of the pile of sheets, a plastic dark green fence is partially unrolled, spreading out about 8 feet. At this end, there is an area of scattered dirt.