

Mooshkhagod Be Flooded, Gakijwanan Waterfalls, Wewebnaabiiwag Fish with hook and live.

A worn dark green Cadarelle canoe cut into two pieces are beside one another. One piece sits on its end, stern pointing upwards. The second end lays beside it, pointing towards the door. Inside this end there is a dirtied white sheet with garnet coloured charcoal, spread sporadically on it. The sheet also has a brown four-foot piece of twine attached. The interiors of both canoe pieces are discoloured and have scrapes that also mark their outsides.